

Acknowledgements

As editors of this special issue of the Bijdragen en Mededelingen betreffende de Geschiedenis der Nederlanden/Low Countries Historical Review, we would like to thank a number of people for their help and support along the way. The idea for a special issue devoted to the international relevance of Dutch history was first discussed in the Editorial Board and in the International Advisory Board of this journal, and we would like to thank the members of these two boards for their helpful suggestions. A special word of thanks is due to Wijnandt Mijnhardt, whose keen remarks were crucial in clearing up some ambiguities in the original plan. At a later stage, the members of the Editorial Board carried out invaluable work in commenting on the drafts of the essays submitted by the authors. James Kennedy's contribution in particular is very much appreciated, as his suggestions regarding some of the essays were critical in resolving quite a few editorial issues.

Naturally, a volume such as this would not be possible without the hard work, dedication and cooperation of the authors, who at first presented their ideas during a conference in November 2008 and later were willing to revise their essays for inclusion in this volume. We would also like to thank the referees for commenting on the contributions to that conference and for their insightful reports on the written essays. These remarks were essential in enhancing the quality of this volume.

We are especially grateful for the generous financial support provided by the Royal Netherlands Historical Society (Harreveldfonds) and the Institute of Netherlands History. The extraordinary generosity of the Rijksmuseum Amsterdam (Gijs van der Ham and Cécile van der Harten) and Amsterdams Historisch Museum (Kees Zandvliet) is reflected in the exuberant illustration of this issue. Free use of illustrations was also kindly offered by the International Institute of Social History (Amsterdam) and the Netherlands Institute of War Documentation (Amsterdam).

In addition, we would like to thank Hermen Grasman (design), Renske Siemens (guest image editor) and Mark Baker (translation) for their invaluable assistance and ever-present support in this process. The vision and dedication of the editorial staff (Marja de Keuning and Caroline van Vliet) ensured the success of this project.
